Any issues during demo	During the live walkthrough, a minor local server port conflict caused a momentary delay when trying to pull up the interactive frontend dashboard. Additionally, an unexpected string input in the "Annual Income" field briefly caused a validation error.
How issues were resolved	The backend developer quickly remapped the server port via the terminal within seconds while the frontend developer kept the evaluators engaged by walking them through the UI design slides. The input error was instantly resolved by refreshing the page and highlighting the built-in field validation rules to the evaluators, demonstrating the application's robust error handling.
